SUSPECT IN HOLDUP DROVERS' NATIONAL BANK IS ARRESTED

Arrest Follows Alleged Confession of Woman
Companion

(By The Associated Press)
DENVER, Colo., Jan. 1.—Martin Ryan, alias James Martin, arrested Saturday with a woman giving the name of Margaret Yard, today was implicated in the robbery of the Drovers' National bank in Kansas City on December 12, in a confession made and signed by the woman, according to the police.

Kansas City authorities have been notified of the confession and will send officers at once to return the pair to Kansas City. A check by police of statements made by the woman since her arrest and prior to her confession, have shown that the couple had no connection with the bank robbery which on December 18, held up a federal reserve bank truck in front of the government mint here and escaped with $200,000 in currency.

At the time of the arrest of Ryan and Miss Yard, police found more than $8,000 hidden in the sleeve of a coat in a trunk belonging to them. According to the girl, who is 20 years old and claims she has been married, she had been employed in a restaurant in Kansas City, Mo., for five months prior to meeting Ryan. She met Ryan about two weeks prior to the robbery, she said, and she occupied an apartment.

On the day of the robbery she declared in her confession, according to the police Ryan came home about 7 o'clock in the evening with a bundle wrapped in a newspaper. Unwrapping it, she declared he threw $10,000 in bills on the bed with the declaration that he had got it from the Drovers' National bank.

ESTIMATED THAT CHICAGO SPENT OVER $6,000,000

That Amount Was Used in Ushering in the New Year

(By The Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Jan. 1.—Chicago spent $6,000,000 ushering in the New Year according to figures prepared tonight based on returns from seven of the largest hotels and six of the leading cafes.

The seven biggest hotels reported that 11,000 merry-makers spent $223,000, speeding the party year and welcoming the newcomer. In the six cafes 20,500 revellers parted with $207,500 for the same purpose.

There are more than 400 hotels and 500 cafes in the city. The hotel and cafe men estimated that one fifth of the city's population celebrated in cafes and other public places. The expenditure per guest ranged from $8 to $15 in most of the downtown hotels.

The threat of prohibition agents to call for the hotel and cafe table reservation lists and summon all merry-makers before the federal grand jury to tell what they know about how prohibition did or did not work New Year's eve met with varying response today. Some hotel keepers said they would not give up their lists until they consulted their attorneys. Others said they were perfectly willing to comply.

OFFICER KILLS INSANE MAN

(By The Associated Press)

GILLESPIE, Ill., Jan. 1.—William Dann is dead and Night Patrolman Thomas Long is wounded as the result of a gun battle staged in the front doorway of the Dann home at 5:30 o'clock this evening, when Long accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Jack Duffy went to the home to arrest Dann who had become violently insane.

As the officers approached the door Dann flourished a revolver over his shoulder and threatened to kill them if they took another step forward. The officers informed him they wanted to talk with him. At this Dann opened fire the bullet cutting Duffy's left coat sleeve. Long plunged against the door and grappled for an instant with Dann. Both Dann and Duffy then fired twice and the former fell. Long was shot through the left hand.

THREE DEAD OF AUTO ACCIDENTS

Chicago, Jan. 1.—Three persons were dead today as the result of automobile accidents. Twelve-year-old Mary Smalosh was fatally injured and a cousin of the same age, Helen Trundalia, was severely injured when struck by a taxicab in the sight of several New Year's revellers at a busy street intersection. Mary died in a hospital.

Mrs. Anna Monahan was killed at a street crossing.

L. E. Hunter, a chauffeur, was crushed to death under his overturned taxi.

NEW YORKERS WHO DANCED PAID THE FIDDLER YESTERDAY

"Cold Grey Dawn of the Morning Af- ter" for Many of Them

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 1.—New Yorkers who danced and drank away the old year yesterday paid the divers terms dictated by the fiddler.

It was a "cold grey dawn" for everybody with a downpour of rain and a whistling wind. And there were not a few persons despite the laws and all who awakened with aching heads and tastes in their mouths like green persimmons.

Others greeted the day with sour faces and creaky joints caused by hours spent on the none too comfortable bunks of jalls. Three persons who had been too reckless in the display of pocket flasks filled with the liquid in which they had planned to drown the sorrows of 1922.

Even those there were drinkers in the dazzling establishments along the great White Way who weren't caught, prohibition enforcement agents killed all the joy that might have been. It was only in the tucked away places that revellers followed their bent without molestation.

For all of the better known and even the smaller places of the Broadway district lynx-eyed prohibition enforcement agents and policemen watched for the tilting of the flasks and bottles. In some 1,000 resorts the enforcement agents worked.

There were only 129 prohibition law arrests in all. About 200 gallons of liquor were taken from 41 establishments. E. C. Yellow, federal director of prohibition enforcement for New York state declared that the result of his staff's work was "more than satisfactory."

His warnings to owners of resorts that they would be closed by injunction proceedings should they be caught dispensing liquor, resulted in closing of more than a dozen large places at 9 o'clock last night, he added. Some of the cabaret managers while not bold enough to dispense liquor from their own stores, if they had any, provided as best they could for the protection of their flask-toting patrons.

The ruse of one ingenious manager was effective—for a spell. The jazz band played one piece to numerous encores and during the chorus the lights were dimmed. The enforcement agents finally got suspicious and arrested two men just as the light flared up.

SUPREME COURT WILL MEET TODAY

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1.—The supreme court will meet tomorrow after a three-week recess. Based upon the record it made on returning from the former long recess when by opinions and orders it removed 78 cases from the docket court habitude expect another big cleaning up after Associate Justice Pierce Butler of St. Paul has had the judicial oath administered to him by the chief justice, making him a member of the court.

Justice Butler will have the peculiar experience of not occupying the seat at the foot of the bench. Justices of the court are seated in order of seniority of service and it is customary for the new member to go to the end of the bench to the left of the chief justice. At the resignation of Justice Pitney took effect today Justice Butler will have stepped up the ladder one rung when he dons his official robes tomorrow and the chair at the extreme left of the bench will be vacant.

FIND WHITE MULE STILL IN COAL MINE

(By The Associated Press)

HARRISBURG, Ill., Jan. 1.—The source of Saline county's main supply of "white mule" is the liquid lightning that takes the point off the woodwork and is the current drink throat of the coal mine district of Egypt—was discovered today when Sheriff Small and his deputies penetrated far into the workings of the Heato Slope mine.

Led by an authorized state mine inspector, the sheriff's posse donned boots and miners' lamps and explored miles of tunnels, drifts, galleries, rooms and headings, until they found four large stills and two barrels of the white corn whiskey.

The first coal mine distillery ever uncovered in southern Illinois was well hidden. Officers raided the Heaton property several days ago but failed to find the stills.

Witness Fled Thru Fear is Now Belief

(By The Associated Press)

BASTROP, La., Jan. 1.—After a day of exhaustive investigation Sheriff Carpenter tonight announced he believed that Harold Teegerstrom, 19 year old time keeper at a carbon plant at Spiker La., was alive and had fled from this section thru fear.

From reports of the incident pieced together it seemed 16 unidentified men appeared at the plant's "bunk house" called the youth to the door, seized and placed him in one of the automobiles waiting outside and drove off into the woods. Whether the men were masked has not been learned.

What occurred in the woods has not been disclosed. Teegerstrom managed to escape from his captors and reached the home of Henry J. Jones, saw mill man yesterday and excitedly asked him for $40 with which to depart for an unannounced destination.

Jones reached Bastrop today and reported the occurrence to the sheriff. Teegerstrom was to have testified in the open hearing and trials in connection with the Morehouse kidnappings and murders. While considered an important state witness, T. J. Burnett, former deputy sheriff in jail here on a murder charge, declared he could prove an alibi for August 24, the night of the outrage by the young timekeeper of the Southern Carbon plant where Burnett was a foreman.

The sheriff today recalled that Teegerstrom had publicly declared Burnett was at the Carbon plant on August 24.

PRESIDENT FELTON CRITICIZES SPEECH OF SENATOR-ELECT

Alleges Shipstead Made Untrue Statements in Address

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Jan. 1.—Samuel L. Felton, president of the Chicago Great Western Railway and chairman of the Western Railway President's committee on public relations, today sent an open letter to Senator-Elect Henrik Shipstead of Minnesota severely criticizing him for alleged misrepresentation of railway matters, in a speech before the city club of Washington on Dec. 5.

Mr. Felton declared that railway union leaders who supported Mr. Shipstead in his campaign seek the adoption of the Plumb plan of government operation and employ management of the railways but that the public will determine the future of the roads.

Mr. Felton took up the senator-elect's reported statement that farmers ship sheep to market and then get bills for the balance of freight charges due. What they get for the sheep will not even cover the cost of shipping.

On the day the speech was made, Mr. Felton says, sheep sold at South St. Paul for 6 1/2 cents a pound or $780 for a single deck car load of 12,000 pounds. The freight rate from Northfield, Minn., a representative point, was $18.50, or less than 2 1/2 per cent of the selling price.

Sheep sold in Chicago the same day at 7 1/2 cents.

NEARLY 400 WITNESSES WAITING TO TESTIFY

(By The Associated Press)

MARION, Ill., Jan. 1.—With nearly 400 witnesses for the defense waiting to be called to the stand, attorneys for the five defendants charged with murder in connection with the Herrin riots of June 22 spent New Year's Day in active preparation for the resumption of the hearings tomorrow. When court adjourned over the holidays on December 23, the prosecution had rested its case with the introduction of the testimony of only 29 witnesses. Formal motion to take the case for the jury and return a verdict of not guilty had been overruled by Judge Hartwell and the testimony of 41 witnesses for the defense had been taken.

The 11 farmers and 1 union man composing the jury spent the holidays in a dormitory on the top floor of the jail where four defendants, Peter Hiller, Joe Caranagli, Ota Clark and Bert George were confined. The fifth defendant, Levi Mann has been allowed his liberty because of illness in his family.

FIND SKELETON IN BURNED STRAW STACK

Owosso, Mich., Jan. 1.—The skeleton found in a burned straw stack on a farm near here Sunday was identified today as that of Milton Hopp, 36, a tax driver of Flint. A chauffeur's license led to the identification.

Hopp had been missing since October 26. Officers believe he was killed in a night fire that started from a spark from a passing locomotive caused the blaze while he was asleep.

LARGE LOANS ARE PLACED ON FARMS BY GOVERNMENT

Federal Farm Loan System Experiences its Greatest Ex- pansion

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1.—Placing loans in excess of $230,444,000, the federal farm loan system experienced its greatest period of expansion in 1922, Commissioner Lobdell of the federal farm loan board declared tonight in a New Year's greeting to American farmers.

The year's record for extension of credit represents loans more than double the amount placed in any one year since the termination of the system.

The expanded operations culminated in the declaration of dividends by six of the more prosperous farm loan banks aggregating more than one million dollars, Mr. Lobdell declared. The other land banks paid their regular dividends of eight percent he reported.

"We believe this distribution to the farm borrowers is a transaction without precedent in the history of agriculture finance," the commissioner said in a statement on behalf of the board. "To the farmers outside the system we are pleased to convey the assurance of every prospect of a continued supply of loanable funds at reasonable rates and on easy terms where ever adequate security is offered. To more and all we express the hope that wise legislation and sound practices in cooperating marketing and buying may speedily bring you relatively as close to the purchasers of your products and those from whom you must purchase as the farm loan system has brought you to the sources of financial supply."

DISCOVER CABIN WHERE WOMAN HID?

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Cal. Jan. 1.—Discovery of a "cabin" in a lonely canyon near Los Angeles where Mrs. Clara Phillips, hammer murderess who escaped from the Los Angeles county jail, Dec. 5, concealed herself for at least four days, after the jail break, was announced at the sheriff's office tonight. The statement was made that A. L. Phillips, husband of the convicted murderess, "was known to have purchased food at a grocery near the cabin for four days after his wife's escape," and that another man whose identity has not been learned delivered the food at the cabin.

The officers declined to name the exact location of the cabin, but declared their investigations proved it had been occupied recently. They said this discovery offered them the first "real clew" to the whereabouts of Mrs. Phillips and that it would be followed by an intensified effort to locate her.

Among their first steps, it was stated, would be questioning of Phillips who would be asked to explain his alleged purchases of food and to name the man who made the deliveries. After the boy all persons living in the vicinity of the cabin are to be questioned.

BOY HELD ON MURDER CHARGE IS RELEASED

(By The Associated Press)

WISCONSIN RAPIDS, Wis., Jan. 1.—Edward Magnuson, 16 year old son of John Magnuson, farmer, who is being held on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Mrs. James A. Chapman. Killed by a bomb sent thru the mails, was released from custody today.

Postal authorities and county officials have questioned the boy vainly since his arrest Saturday afternoon. Preliminary arraignment of his father has been continued.

The only evidence against the elder Magnuson, officials admit, is purely circumstantial. The case against him rests mainly on the similarity between his writing and the writing on the death bomb package and the fact that he spelled the name of Marshall, the point from which the bomb was mailed as "Marshallfield," just as the sender of the death box did.

ORVAL CORREA RETURNS TO CITY WITH BRIDE

Orval Correa, son of F. V. Correa of this city, was united in marriage to Miss Frances Hursh, of Lawrence, Kan., on Wednesday December 27. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride in Lawrence and was witnessed by a limited number of relatives and friends of the young people.

Mr. and Mrs. Correa have arrived in the city and are to make their home here. The former will now be associated with his father in business, giving the elder Mr. Correa more time to devote to his varied interests.

REJECTION OF CUNO'S OFFER IS ANNOUNCED

Official Circles Question
Motives of German
Offer

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Jan. 1.—Chancellor Cuno's announcement of the rejection by France of his offer of an anti-war pact brought considerable comment today from official circles which confined themselves to the question of Germany's motives in making the offer.

The world should now be convinced they say that Germany harbors no idea of revenge and that she is truly a democracy, being content to leave the decision of war or peace to a popular referendum, as provided in the proposed pact.

The French attitude is viewed in some quarters in Berlin as being prompted by the conviction that such a pact would definitely restrict France's freedom of action in connection with reparations because it would prevent her from imposing physical sanctions or invading fresh German territory.

"In proposing this truce to France, the Cuno government was speaking for the German people as a whole," said a leading foreign office official.

Alluding to what he called the absurd and preposterous idea that the reactionary element in Germany was arming for an invasion of France, this official declared that such charges suggested the suspicion that they were inspired to keep militarism alive elsewhere.

"We have no army and no navy," he said. "Does any sane man suppose we could even prepare for modern warfare with our currency system wrecked almost beyond repair, our exchequer pretty well depleted, our credit shattered and with an internal economic and food situation that faces collapse?"

Supplementing Chancellor Cuno's statement of yesterday it was declared today that the German plan should be understood as providing a truce for a period of from 45 to 60 years and not for the indefinite time indicated by the word "generation."

GERMANY IN DEFAULT ON COAL, FRANCE SAYS

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Jan. 1.—France has asked the reparations commission to declare Germany in voluntary default of her coal deliveries, which it is claimed have been running much below the schedule framed at the Spa conference in 1920. Louis Barthou, president of the commission and French delegate asked today that the question be discussed at the regular meeting here next Friday. This step is regarded in British circles as an attempt to strengthen the French claim, as when the commission last week declared Germany in voluntary default of her timber deliveries, the British delegate is reported to have argued that the value of the deliveries $500,000 appeared insignificant as the basis for such drastic action. The amount involved in the shortage of coal deliveries also is placed at $500,000.

The reparations commission, it is understood has been reliably informed that Germany lately has been obliged to import large quantities of coal from the United Kingdom and the British delegation is of the opinion that the schedule of delivery from Germany to France is too severe.

ORGANIZATION IS DEPENDENT UPON CAUCUSES TONIGHT

Republicans and Dem- ocrats Will Hold Their Meetings Separately

(By The Associated Press)

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 1.—Organization of the state senate and house tonight depended upon the caucuses to be held tomorrow night by both Republican and Democratic members at separate meeting places. Opponents of the state administration will test their strength for control of the fifty third general assembly in the Republican caucus, with both administration and anti-administration bodies each claiming 26 members within their strongholds.

Five candidates tonight appeared in the field for the speakership of the lower house. This number may be lessened in informal caucuses to be held tomorrow afternoon however. The Democratic caucus promises some excitement in a possible contest between John P. Devine of Dixon and Michael Igoe of Chicago for Democratic floor leader in the house. Igoe will have the support of the Cook county delegation.

State Senator Edward Hughes, Chicago will probably be the minority floor leader of the senate it was indicated tonight.

The session will open formally at noon Wednesday. A contest between Speaker G. A. Dahlberg, supported by the state administration and former Speaker David E. Shanahan of Chicago, appears as possible veteran members claim. Neither, however, has announced his candidacy but are among those considered. Other candidates mentioned include State Representative Ralph Church, Chicago; Otto B. Arnold, Quincy; Otto Sonneman, Carlinville; Norman G. Flagg, Moro, and "Charles Baker of Monroe Center. Compromise candidates for the speakership have been mentioned to include Homer Rice of Greenville, and Lincoln Bancroft of Greencup.

No statements were forthcoming tonight from Speaker Dahlberg, or Mr. Shanahan. Senator Otto F. Glenn, of Murphysboro, will likely be nominated for chairman of the caucus anti-administration leaders said tonight while the administration forces are reported as supporting Frederick Roos of Chicago. The fifty third general assembly will formally open Wednesday.

That an issue on the "wet" and "dry" question may be raised in the selection of a speaker or in the fight of the house was indicated tonight in a statement by F. Scott McBride, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Illinois.

"The Anti-Saloon League has no candidate," the statement says. "It has however, experienced dry who have ability, the integrity that make it possible them to successfully administer the office of speakership, and to give 'wets' and 'drys' alike the square deal."

No statements were available night relating to any proposal suggestion of a "wet" candidate. A number of those arriving tonight expressed the opinion that the fight for the speakership will be carried to the floor of the house.

Representative Charles S. Stubbs, who is ill at Peoria will not attend the Republican caucus friends said.

There are forty two members of the house who will seated Wednesday and their attitude on the speakership was unknown tonight.

A THOUGHT

Who is among you that feareth the Lord, that obeyeth the voice of his servant, that walketh in darkness and hath no light? Let him trust in the name of the Lord, and stay upon his God.—Isaiah 50:10.

The prayer of Ajax was for light, Through all that black and desperate night, The brightness of that noonday light.

—Longfellow.

The era of free first-class land in the United States has passed, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. Nearly half of the area of continental United States is not in farms. Of this area, 40,000,000 acres are absolute desert or too rugged to cultivate, 270,000,000 acres are occupied by forests and cut-over land, and 600,000,000 acres are in the semiarid West and suitable only for grazing.

WANAMAKER ANOTHER EXAMPLE

The recent death of John Wanamaker once more calls attention to the fact that in a land of individualism all things are possible. Wanamaker was great in private life and he achieved large success in public life, being postmaster general under President Harrison, from 1889 to 1903. He was a vigorous opponent of "machine rule" in politics.

Such an attitude in a land like Russia, for example, would have resulted in his attending a shooting party with himself as the target. Indeed, there would have been small chance of his ever arising to a point of distinction as the opponent of anything under a bureaucratic or socialistic system, because such systems attempt to keep a man at the dead level of mediocrity, and success in anything except cold-blooded murder is accounted a crime.

Competition is greater now than it was when Wanamaker achieved his success, but as Webster said of the law, so it may be said of all walks of life in this country, "there is always room at the top." As competition grows sterner outstanding ability is more speedily recognized. Any young man today could take Wanamaker's initial equipment and achieve success.

WIZARDS' WORK (NEA)

The "absolute zero," lowest degree of cold possible in our universe, has been artificially approached within less than one degree. This is a sensation in the scientific world. It is the work of Prof. Onnes, of Leyden, Holland.

What is the "absolute zero?" Not the same as our thermometer. Scientists use a special thermometer, by which boiling water has a temperature of 373 degrees and ice forms at 273 degrees Centigrade. So 273 degrees colder than ice is "absolute zero."

Interesting, you comment, but what's it good for? The same was asked about 20 years ago when liquid air was brought out as a scientific curiosity or toy. Today the production of liquid air is a big industry, furnishing argon for filling electric lamps and providing oxygen for engineering and medical uses.

No discovery, however trifling it may seem at the time, is really unimportant. Once discovered, the human mind soon puts it to use in the general process of steadily raising our standard of living.

Peculiar possibility looms: If Prof. Onnes can get one more degree of cold and reach "absolute zero," whatever is subjected to the cold will be completely motionless. Matter might then be held in extraordinary manner, for at the "absolute zero" all movement by the molecules would stop. Add one degree of heat, molecules begin moving, the principle of life (motion) appears.

When we reach "absolute zero" in our laboratories, we may find the mysterious secret of life within grasp.

By way of contrast, other scientists point out that they now can measure, by electrical means, a temperature up to more than 3000 degrees above zero.

This man now is able to measure, with absolute accuracy, any temperature over a range of about 3300 degrees.

It's a revelation of the skill and knowledge acquired by man. And yet it's only the faint beginning of what people will do in the future. The thing we call civilization is really only a stage of the barbarism preliminary to real civilization later.

BERTON BRALEY'S DAILY POEM

Speaking of Atmosphere

By Berton Braley

THE fresh air fiend, the fresh air fiend!

Oh, there's a guy that should be beamed, No matter where he may appear, He always says, "It's close in here!"

And though it's chill Outside, he will Proceed to open windows, thus Refrigerating all of us.

THE fresh air fiend, the fresh air fiend!

When from the cold we're nicely screened, And when the room is good and hot, Is he content? No, he is not.

He pants for air And then and there He schemes and plots, with deadly craft, To sweep us with an icy draught.

THE fresh air fiend, the fresh air fiend!

So vigorous, so ruddy-miened, Within a barn he should be kept, A barn by frigid breezes swept;

But there, I guess He'd feel distress, And for more air he'd loudly shout Until the horses kicked him out.

I DEARLY love the out-of-doors,

I love the wintry wind that roars, But, though the fresh air fiends deride, I do not like outdoors inside.

So I repeat, Turn on the heat, And let the fresh air bimbo go And hob-nob with the Esquimo.

1923 AUTO LICENSE PLATES RECEIVED

The 1923 automobile license plates are being issued from the office of the Secretary of State L. L. Emmerson, and several have been received in Jacksonville. The figures are in white enamel on green background.

Felix Farrell has received the number that has been his for several years and other Jacksonville people by early application have the same numbers that have been theirs before.

It has been the custom of the secretary's office for several years to mail with each plate a book of rules and regulations for the guidance of motor car drivers. Some of these suggestions relate merely to car operation such as the use of brakes and the chains.

Emphasis is also laid upon a number of points in the state law governing motor car operation. One of the most important paragraphs in this little pamphlet reads "Go slow in passing children, passing vehicles, approaching crossings and turning corners."

A Day of Reckoning In Mortgage Securities

The mills of the gods grind slowly; but they grind exceedingly small. Applied to mortgage investments, this inexorable principle means that any mortgage business conducted on an unsound basis will, sooner or later, come to grief.

An unusually active market for securities has recently brought to New York and Chicago a large number of companies exploiting the mortgage field upon a new basis. The rapidity with which these companies are selling their real estate mortgage bonds tempting the public by high rates of interest reminds observers of conditions thirty years ago when a similar group of mortgage companies came into existence, issuing real estate mortgage bonds by the million to a hungry public. Practically all of these early mortgage companies failed and it would appear that any mortgage company organized from the selling end and not from the lending end is fore-ordained to fail.

To be on safe and permanent ground, a mortgage company should be organized by lenders of care, skill and experience and managed with full information as to the fluctuating real estate values and with a willingness, year after year, to refuse the large fees which accompany excessive loans. In such cases the mortgage company should last hundreds of years, as have the mortgage companies in Europe.

On the other hand, if a mortgage company is organized by expert selling men with excessive expenses for advertising, salesmen, office and overhead charges, a pressure to get large commissions ensues, under which mortgages even up to 100% of the cost of the property are accepted. Experience shows that such companies last only during intervals—long or short—between real estate depressions. It is argued that these modern companies cannot fail because they guarantee nothing. The answer is that when their issues of real estate mortgage bonds begin to be foreclosed with losses to the investors, they can sell no more bonds and will cease business.

How can an investor know when a mortgage company is organized from the lending end or from the selling end?—to a great extent by the rate of interest which these mortgage investments bear. If real estate mortgage bonds offered at par or less bear 6½%, 7%, or 7½%, the investor may feel quite confident the company he is dealing with is organized from the selling end. The fact that an issue of bonds on an office building or an apartment building is written at 6½% for 10 years or more—whereas the office buildings in New York over a period of years earn on an average less than 4% per annum—does not mean that the invest-tor will receive 6½% during the life of these bonds; but does mean that when the present high rents fall his interest rate will also fall.

The stream cannot rise higher than its source; and as these bonds are not guaranteed there is no source from which a higher return can be paid to the investor than the building yields in year rentals. In plain words, this means that the bond issue will be scaled down in amount or in rate to the normal interest yield. If, by chance, the investor is so unfortunate as to have purchased a bond on a building erected on leased land, he is even in a worse position in that he may suffer a total loss.

The inexperienced investor does not realize that the ground rent capitalized at the current rate of interest constitutes a first mortgage ahead of his leasehold bonds so that his first mortgage real estate bonds on a building on leased ground are, in fact, often second mortgage bonds; but are, in reality, inferior to them since second mortgage bond holders may protect themselves by taking up the first mortgage, whereas leasehold bond holders often have no right to purchase the land, but must continue to pay the ground rent for a long term of years, whether earned or not.

The most favorable feature of the recent issues of real estate mortgage bonds is the requirement for annual reduction of principal. It is true that if rentals and values always continued to increase, an issue of real estate mortgage bonds even up to 100% of the value of the property might "lift itself by its boot straps" and ultimately, by installment reduction of the principal, become a sound investment; but in this plan the economic factors are not taken into account.

At recurrent intervals come business panics, crises and depressions, failures of business houses, unemployment, severe drop in rents and the scaling down of real estate values. It is during these periods that holders of excessive real estate bond issues will face loss.

To sum up—the old fashioned mortgage lenders view with apprehension the large sales of excessive issues of real estate mortgage bonds bearing high rates of interest. These old fashioned lenders have done business with caution and success over a long period of years and their experience has taught them that 100% mortgage loans and high rates of interest spell loss to the investors who purchase them.

HUGE REVOLVING DRUM FOR DRAWING

Is Painted in Jacksonville's Official Colors — Mayor Crabtree Selects Four Girls to Do the Drawing.

A huge revolving drum has been erected on the platform on the North side of the square for use in the Gift Campaign drawing on January 3rd. The drum is painted in Jacksonville's official colors, yellow and blue, and is quite an imposing affair. The inside of the drum contains paddle wheels which move when the drum revolves. This is for the purpose of keeping the coupons thoroughly mixed up and separated all during the drawing.

The drum is 9 feet in diameter and 32 inches deep. It contains two trap doors on the outside, one large and the other small. Through the large door all the gift coupons will be inserted and the smaller door will be used for the children to put their hands inside the drum and take out the coupons.

The Gift Campaign committee requested Mayor E. E. Crabtree to select four little girls to help in the drawing of the coupons. The ones whom Mayor Crabtree has named are: Margaret Goebel, Anna Mae Hulett, Agnes Brennan and Margaret Geibert. A number of other children are to be selected to help in taking out the coupons and their names will be announced later.

A record-breaking crowd is expected in Jacksonville on January 3 and the city will probably be taxed to the utmost to accommodate the many visitors. Arrangements have been made to use the Opera House for the distribution of the gifts in event of the weather being unfavorable. There are 210 gifts to be given away and the distribution will probably take four or five hours.

Royman Hufford former Jacksonville high school teacher and coach, who with his wife has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elie Henderson, 414 North Fayette street, returned Monday to his work as coach at Edwarsville. Hufford has had a fair season, beating a number of strong teams, and suffering defeat at the hands of others, the majority of Alton district football teams having been evenly matched.

Basketball prospects look much the same, he says. Two games are scheduled with Hillsboro, where "Fat" Andrew, Illinois '21, is coaching.

Don't Let That Cold Turn Into "Flu"
Rub on Good Old Musterole That cold may turn into "Flu," Grippe or, even worse, Pneumonia, unless you take care of it at once. Rub good old Musterole on the congested parts and see how quickly it brings relief.

Colds are merely congestion. Musterole, made from pure oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other simple ingredients, is a counter-irritant which stimulates circulation and helps break up the cold.

As effective as the messy old mustard plaster, it does the work without the blister.

Just rub it on with your finger-tips. You will feel a warm tingle as it enters the pores, then a cooling sensation that brings welcome relief.

There is no power greater than that of friendship. It is the trait in man we always seek yet seldom find. But when man searches for it in the domain of the dumb animal, his labors are never in vain.

So it was with "Red" Ferris, a wandering cowboy, of the dread Death Valley in the mountains of Southern California. He sought friendship in the realm of mankind and failed in his quest. Then he did a kind act for a horse. From that day forth he found friendship, a friendship that won for him the respect of man and the love of a woman.

MRS. G. W. HALL SICK FOR YEARS

Wants Women to Know How She Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lima, Ohio. — "Indeed, your medicine is all you say it is! I had very severe troubles such as women often have, and could do no heavy work. I was sick for several years, and from reading your ads. I finally decided to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am now doing my own washing, which I haven't done for several years, and can walk long distances without those dragging pains and weak feelings. The Vegetable Compound is fine, and I never forget to say a good word for it to other women when they say they need something." — Mrs. G. W. HALL, 639 Hazard Avenue, Lima, Ohio.

There are many women who find their household duties almost unbearable owing to some weakness or derangement. The trouble may be slight, yet cause such annoying symptoms as dragging pains, weakness and a run-down feeling.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for such conditions. It has in many cases relieved those symptoms by removing the cause of them. Mrs. Hall's experience is but one of many.

The hour of the passing of the old year and the coming of the new was marked with the usual blowing of whistles and ringing of bells in all the city. Hundreds of people were on the streets and at the various watch parties held throughout the city. With horns and other instruments, they added to the din.

At the Grand Opera house long lines of theater goers waited the opening of the doors and the beginning of the show at midnight. Scores were turned away, as the building would not accommodate them.

SPRINGFIELD RECITAL OF MISS JACKSON'S SONGS

One of the social events of Springfield last week was a song recital given by Stella Westenberg (Mrs. Gary Westenberg) mezzo-contralto, at her home on Saturday afternoon, December 30, presenting the songs of Anne Wakely Jackson of Jacksonville.

The entire program of eleven songs consisted of Miss Jackson's compositions, with the composer at the piano. Mrs. Westenberg has a rich mezzo-contralto voice and sings with great feeling and understanding; and the guests present were delighted with her interpretation of the songs and enthusiastic in their applause.

They insisted upon her repeating two of the numbers. Vachel Lindsay's "Dirge for a Righteous Kitten" and William Blake's "The Lamb." The program, consisting of four groups, was as follows:

The Loden-eyed—Ghosts in Love, The Potato Dance.

A Net to Share the Moonlight; The Moon's the North Wind's Cookie; Dirge for a Righteous Kitten.

A service of Song; The Lamb, Caprice; April Rain; Trees.

The songs in groups one and two were settings of poems by Vachel Lindsay. The last song on the program, a setting of Joyce Kilmer's well-known poem, "Trees," was composed specially by Mrs. Westenberg.

Thirty guests were present at the recital and all expressed their pleasure and appreciation of Mrs. Westenberg's rendition of the songs and interest in Miss Jackson's work. At the conclusion of the program the guests lingered for a social hour, during which dainty refreshments were served. It was altogether a very delightful occasion for all who were present.

EDUCATIONAL NOTES

Albion College has received as a Christmas present a $10,000 check from Mr. S. S. Kresge of Detroit, for the current expenses of the college. A similar present was made last year by Mr. S. S. Both Mr. Kresge and President John W. Laird were reared in Scranton, Pennsylvania, but they did not meet after boyhood until one was a millionaire and the other a college president. Mr. Kresge left Scranton to enter business and Dr. Laird became a student at Syracuse University.

At a winter meeting of the board of trustees of Genesee Wesleyan Seminary, Lima, New York, plans were perfected for a project to raise a $300,000 endowment fund for the Seminary to erect a new dormitory.

President Frank told the trustees that the Seminary was so overcrowded a good many of the students were forced to find accommodations off the campus.

THE YEAR IN LIVE STOCK

(From Current Livestock News)
A comparison between live stock trade conditions at this time and toward the close of 1921
shows gratifying improvement.
Live stock has been the omnibus branch of agriculture capable of affording relief to producers. At the inception of 1922 the industry was forging its way out of the morass of post-war deflation and demoralization. The purchasing power of the industrial masses was still seriously impaired, by-products of all kinds of live stock, including wool and hides, were practically unsalable and the country was full of fat cattle that had been carried on corn to nurse an invalid market. Contrast this condition with that of the moment when everybody able and willing to work was a job at the door.
Wages were known, all by-product was readily salable and both fresh and cured meats are going into distributive channels as fast as prepared.

During the first three months of 1922 cattle trade was discouraging, but in response to a steadily improving industrial situation gained tone until a highly profitable trade was established, the rule that profits in feeding low priced corn and are being upset.
The crop of stockers and feeders laid in at bargain prices during the fall of 1921 went to market as beef to net more money than any previous season's production, margins of $3 to $4 per cwt being common and the longer cattle were carried in the feed lot the more money they made. The turnover was enormous, as short feeding was the rule, so that the year's supply statistics show an increase that is more apparent than actual. This highly profitable market naturally stimulated feeding, fetching in a grist of barely warmed-up steers during November and December that depressed prices, but at no time was there lack of ready outlet for the product, and most of these cattle showed a margin of profit. Many regular feeders have been enabled to more than recoup losses of last year.

A determined bear campaign in the hog market met signal defeat,
the entire pork and lard production of 1922 having been absorped at prices considered impossible a year ago, and this was accomplished despite a seriously restricted export outlet, due to adverse exchange conditions and lack of European purchasing capacity. Had Europe been able to purchase hog product in proportion to its needs export trade would probably have been 50 per cent greater in volume. The impetus acquired by the market early in the year was due to broad domestic consumption of all kinds of meats and the influence of the competitive market which gave producers a voice in determining values, rendering the 6 cent campaign of the killers impossible.
Considering supply volume, the manner in which 1922 hog production was absorbed is as surprising as gratifying.

It has been a sensational period in live mutton circles, especially in the case of lambs. The crop of western lambs fed last winter made more net profit than any that previously went to the killer and the summer and fall market for new crop lambs exceeded all expectation. An appreciation of approximately 100 per cent in wool was a strong appreciative and stabilizing factor. Heavy sheep did not participate to the full extent, as there is but limited demand for heavy mutton.

Adverse influences were a nation-wide rail strike, which cost live stock producers heavily and deteriorated transportation facilities for which the shipmen's strike was in a large measure responsible. In combination with excessive freight rates, this hit producers hard. In the west adverse physical conditions, due to a severe winter and a droughty summer, accentuated hardship, but the whole situation and the suspect warrant a degree of optimism that could not be indulged in a year ago, assuring live stock producers of an outlet for their product. In this respect their position is decidedly more advantageous than that of the grain grower, affording a demonstration of the fact that the safest and most remunerative agriculture is found on the American stock farm.

PRODUCE MARKET REVIEW

(Prepared by Swift & Co.)
A constantly increasing supply of fresh eggs has reached the larger markets of the country. This resulted in lower closing prices than for the previous week. Weather conditions are generally favorable for increased production, with more eggs reported in storage than at the same time last year.
The pre-holiday movement of poultry trade was exceptionally heavy. The demand was chiefly for chickens, fowls, ducks and geese. Trading in turkeys was disappointing, due to light demand from the consumer trade.

Butter trade was almost at a standstill. Dealers are reducing their stocks in the face of an increase in production. Markets have eased off and prices for butter and butter fat are generally lower.

Farming as a Business.
A $15,000 official of a certain farm organization announces that the average farm income in the United States last year was $465.
Assuming, for the sake of argument, that this is approximately correct, and the obvious purpose of the statement is to capitalize discontent, it would be interesting to know how he figures income in various sections.

Farming is a business, requiring capital investment, experience and capacity. If this distinctive line between actual farmers and those who live on the land merely to eke out a bare existence with little prospect of improving their condition is drawn, the $465 estimate of annual income is absurd.
Corn belt farmers spend that much annually on motor upkeep.

The real farmer is the man who makes farming a business and the most successful of this element is the live stock producer.
He takes the hazards of his business as inevitable and by sticking to it has been able to recoup all or part of last year's losses this season.

Corn Burners Silenced.

Advocates of corn burning and reduced production enjoying wide publicity a year ago, have been silenced. In some sections of the corn belt, especially the southwest getting thru the winter without making extensive purchases of the yellow cereal. Nowhere is complaint of a burdensome surplus heard, export trade is expanding and an enormous quantity is finding a cash market daily in the shape of fat cattle and hogs
at the stock yards.

Recent advances in corn are not necessarily adverse to live stock feeders, as converting cheap corn into beef and pork has rarely produced results as satisfactory as when grain commanded a good price. In this respect, 1922 has been an abnormal year. With investors in the market, feeding on a large scale, exporters buying freely and a wide western and southwestern cash outlet already developed, one cause for agrarian discontent has been removed. But the chief influence in advancing the value of corn has been the live stock market, where the large-

MYSTERY OF PURSE SNATCHING CLEARED

Sammy Gray Confesses to 5 Year
at Recent Cases—Arrested Last Night After Snatching Purse of Mrs. M. H. Havenhill

With the arrest of Sammy Gray, colored youth a few hours after he had snatched the purse of Mrs. M. H. Havenhill in front of May or Crabtree's home, 375 West State street, the police cleared up the mystery of several similar robberies of the past few weeks. Mrs. Havenhill's purse was stolen about 5:30 o'clock Monday evening. The police were immediately notified and began a search. The fact that a majority of the purse snatching episodes occurred within a radius of a few blocks gave the police something to work on with the result that about 10:30 o'clock Gray was placed under arrest by Chief Kiloran, Capt. Elliott and Patrolman Williams.

Upon questioning Gray, the police said, confessed to getting Mrs. Havenhill's purse and said that he had thrown it back of Brown's Business College. He also admitted the theft of purses of Mrs. Smith of North Diamond street two weeks ago and Miss May Hoban a week ago last night. The purse of Miss Hoban was found back of the Ideal Baking company building. The purse of Mrs. Smith was found in Jordan alley. Gray also admitted the attempt to steal the purse of Miss Shuman of Roodhouse in the 400 block West College avenue Saturday evening.

Gray has given the police more or less trouble in recent months but he has been let off on account of his mother. None of the misdemeanors heretofore have been of a serious nature until the present purse snatching incidents. It is probable that Gray will be sent to the school for boys at St. Charles.

Chief Kiloran said last night that he was more than pleased with the apprehension of Gray as women were in a state of panic as the result of the frequent robberies. Gray is only 16 years of age and resides with his mother, Mrs. Mary Gray in Anna street.

This wedding was a beautiful holiday event and united two people very well and favorably known in Jacksonville. The bride is the sister of Mrs. Herman Shanken of this city and was in Jacksonville for nine months as assistant manager of Shanken's Store. During her stay in this city Mrs. Meyer won many friends by the charm and friendliness of her personality.

Mr. Meyer has been a resident of Jacksonville for fifteen years and is favorably known here. He is head designer at the Capps and Sons Woolen Mills of this city. Following the wedding ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Meyer left for a five weeks trip to California. Upon their return they will be at home in Jacksonville.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Statler Hotel, with a few friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman as guests. The bride was attractively dressed in a frock of brown brocade chiffon and she carried a bouquet of roses. Miss Anderson wore a dress of blue brocade chiffon and a corsage bouquet of sweet peas.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman left yesterday for Orlando, Florida where they will spend several weeks and will then go to other points in Florida. They will return to Jacksonville in May and will make their home here. The bride and groom are both well known in the city. WEE WILLIE KEELER AT BAT FOR LAST TIME

Loses In Game Against Death,
Greatest of All Pitchers—Played
Game of Life as He Played
Baseball Until the Last Man
Was Out.

New York, Jan. 1.—William H. (Wee Willie) Keeler, one of the greatest ball players of all time, died today of heart disease at his Brooklyn home. Funeral services will be held Thursday morning with services at the Church of Our Lady of Good Counsel.

For three weeks his death had been expected but Wee Willie died today playing the game of life as he had always played baseball—until the last man was out in the ninth.

A New Year's Eve party at his home last night was the gathering place of family friends and old time admirers of the little ball player, whose success on the diamond brought few rewards for his final days.

The assembled friends stepped out for a moment, to listen to the bells of Brooklyn's churches at midnight. When they returned they found Willie sitting in his bed, laughing and ringing chimes of his own for the passing of the old year and the coming of the new with the little hand bell he had used to summon his attendant. He died early today.

The death of the batsman whose records are still unparalleled by his successors recalled to-night the changing status of the ball player in late years. Twice Wee Willie was sold even when on the road to fame for $800, a sum that seems trivial today, when players are sold for sums amounting to five figures.

Keeler was discovered in 1892 while with the Plainfield, N. J., team. Herman Doeschner, manager of the Binghamton team of the Eastern League going to scout another player forgot all about him when he saw Keeler.

"How much are you getting?" he asked Wee Willie.

"Two dollars a game," Willie answered.

He jumped at the offer of $90 a month Doeschner made him.

WILLIAM J. MOORE CALLED BY DEATH

Founder of Moore Rug Company Succumbs Monday Afternoon to Lingering Illness.

William J. Moore, dairyman and former proprietor of the Moore Rug company, which he founded, died at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at his home, 1105 North Main street, of an illness of several years duration.

Mr. Moore was born February 13, 1876, in Carlinville, Ill., the son of John M. and Nancy E. Moore. He was educated in the Carlinville schools, and sought to complete his preparation by night work under private instruction in Jacksonville, where he came at the age of 16. He worked in Jacksonville as a printer, being an employee of the Journal office for some time. Anxious to be in business for himself, he soon began to lay plans to begin building up the Moore Rug company business, to which he devoted his time for 25 years. For the last 12 years of his life he was occupied with dairying interests.

He was a member of the Christian church, which he joined at the age of 15. He served at various times in Central Christian church as chorister, deacon and elder, and was faithful to the work of the church thru his life.

He was married September 12, 1893, to Miss Lou A. Day, and his wife survives him, as well as the following children: Perrin W., Leslie E., William Wallace, Kenneth, Merrill and Marcella Geneva. One son, Milton, died about four years ago.

Other survivors include four grandchildren, and two sisters, Mrs. Amanda Hammond and Mrs. Sarah Barton. A third sister, Mrs. Cella Roberts, preceded him in death.

No definite plans have been made for the funeral as yet. The body was taken to be prepared for burial Monday afternoon, and announcement of services will be made later.

ROODHOUSE GIRL FOILS PURSE SNATCHER HEDE

Miss Doris Shuman of Roodhouse, Illinois college graduate, and at present teacher in the Charleston high school, was reported Saturday evening to have foiled a purse snatcher in the 400 block on West College avenue by keeping a tight hold on the leather handle, which did not break, and calling for help. The man became afraid of being caught and ran. Significance is attached to the fact that the attempted robbery took place near the scene of other and successful attempts of this kind and that the perpetrator was noted as a white young man.

SMALL FIRE IN BIRDSSELL GROCERY

Monday night about 11 o'clock Merchants policeman Sweeney discovered a fire in the basement of the S. F. Birdsell grocery, 501 South Main street. The fire had started in some boxes and rubbish in the basement and would have soon developed into a disastrous conflagration had it not been discovered. The fire department was notified and soon extinguished the blaze with but small damage aside for considerable smoke.

YOUTH ARRESTED ON BAD CHECK CHARGE

Harry Moore, son of Hardin Moore, 423 Franklin street, was apprehended by local police Sunday upon complaint of Sam Coultas, proprietor of a restaurant on North Sandy street, that he had cashed an eight dollar check Saturday night signed with the name Roy Cox, there being no such person having account at the Farrell State bank, on which it was drawn.

Mr. Coultas' suspicions were aroused, he says, when the young man returned Sunday afternoon and asked to have another check cashed. Coultas refused, as did Tim Keating, proprietor of the place next door, and his assistant, William Wilkinson. Having suspected the worthlessness of the first check Mr. Coultas investigated, and finally asked for the arrest, which occurred in the restaurant owned by Mrs. Bessie Woods, 213 East Morgan street.
